MARK CROSSLEY

Mark Crossley is an English-born Wales international football goalkeeper.

Mark started his football career in 1987 as a trainee with Nottingham Forest FC. He had a loan spell at Manchester United during the 1989-90 season but was never selected for the first team, although he played several games for the reserves.

He was a huge favourite with the fans, despite being prone to occasional mistakes, and made just under 400 appearances in thirteen years with the club, becoming first-choice 'keeper at the start of the 1990-91 season - he is also the only goalkeeper to stop a Matthew Le Tissier penalty kick.

He has a great ability to save penalty kicks as he remains one of the only three goalkeepers to save a penalty in the FA Cup Final, against Gary Lineker in 1991.

Mark was a regular in the Welsh international squad, but served as understudy to Neville Southall, and then Paul Jones. He started only eight games. His most memorable moment with the national team was Wales' 4-0 win over Scotland.

Nowadays he is a much sought after speaker on the after dinner circuit with his natural humour in telling stories from his playing days under the management of the legendary Brian Clough.

MICK MILLER

Mick Miller has had a long and successful career stretching over 40 years.

He first came to prominence on the iconic ITV show The Comedians along with great British TV favourites Roy Walker and Stan Boardman. He also made guest appearances on 3, 2, 1, Seaside Special, and Blankety Blank with his good friend Les Dawson. Live theatre tours and summer season shows followed.

In the 1980s Mick co-hosted his own Saturday evening show on ITV called The Funny Side along with Cheryl Baker and the late Mike Smith. Mick has used his comedy talent and timing to land several acting roles. He has appeared in IDEAL with Johnny Vegas, and Peter Kay's Car Share.

He fulfilled a lifetime ambition to work in Las Vegas when he was chosen to be part of the major ITV series Last Laugh in Vegas.

From his beginnings as a shiny shoed, frilly shirted, bow tied comedian in a dinner suit to working in the coolest of comedy clubs, this goes to prove that old's cool.
